Twenty Members.

VINELAND, Oct. 9. - The Vineland Baptist Church, a pretty, unassuming structure, which has for the past twenty more held up her beautiful spires in defiance of a peer, is embroiled in discussion. Commencing nearly two years ago, it has grown until today the church is divided, without a pastor, and twenty of its members are dishonorably expelled. The trouble is over the young pastor, Lyman R. Swett.

Mr. Swett was engaged as pastor of he First Baptist Church three years ago. Owing to the fact that he had not empleted his theological course, he was allowed to attend Crozier Seminary, along smoothly for a year; then one cold winter night Deacon Harrison Duroutrages had been committed in which it was charged he was implicated. Deacon Durgin says that Pastor Swett left on the first train in the morning for New York, but soon returned, and the matter was to all appearances hushed ip. The affair in some mysterious manner leaked out and started tongues to

"You don't mean that," said Teall, diplomatically; "you are simply trying to have some f.n. Here, take the check, it's not an "N. G., and come out and have a drink and cigar."

But Schoenberg remained silent.
"Are you in earnest?" demanded Teall, angrily. "Do you mean to refuse me your theatre?"

Lawyer Benno Loewy of the Post Bullding, subsequently called on Mr. Schoenberg with Mr. Teall and again tendered the check. Mr. Schoenberg decilined it, and told Lawyer Loewy that a power stronger than himself forced him to take the action he did.

Albert Kramer, ir., son of the owner of the Thalia. Theatre, is a member of the Patrick Divver Association. Divver spends much of his time in the Atlantic Garden, and he is believed to have influenced Mr. Schoenberg from carrying out his contract. Divver also has his mass-meetings in the Thalia.

Divver and his lieutenants deny that they had influenced Manager Schoenberg, but it is said that the latter was quietly told that if he allowed Teall to have the theatre the sacred Sunday concerts would be a thing of the past.

What Is More, the Taylors Found

Their Queer Abode Big Enough to Hold Revels In.

"After each registration day," said THE NEIGHBORS MADE COMPLAINTS.

So the Couple Took Their Scanty Furniture and Left to Avoid the Deputy Sheriff.

A World reporter yesterday discovered the oddest and most novel dwell-ing that exists in Brooklyn. It is situated in the back yard of No. 440 Liberty avenue, in the Twenty-sixth Ward, and occupies a space of ground six feet by nine feet. The novelty of this abode is not its diminutiveness, but the fact that No. 440 Liberty avenue is a small two-story cottage. The front room on the ground floor has been converted into a cigar store, which is conducted by Mrs. Ignatz Reis, who, with her crippled son, occupies the house. Mrs. Reis's husband died nearly a year ago. He was a thrifty German. One day a friend of Reis, a butcher, was removing from the neighborhood to another locality. and Reis, chancing around as the removal was in progress, stood and looked idly on. The men engaged in moving the butcher carried an old icebox out on the sidewalk. Reis hunted up the butcher and offered to buy the ce-box, which, after considerable haggling over the price, he did. The box was carted around to Reis's back yard and set up against the fence. around the ice-box for several days and Many applications were made before Reis finally found a tenant for the icebox. William Taylor and his wife applied and, upon being shown the icebox, hired it. Shortly after they took possession Reis died. Taylor and his wife continued to live in their strange abode until midnight Monday, when they decamped for parts unknown with their scanty furniture, consisting of two chairs, a table, stove and barrel-stave bed, to rvoid being dispossessed by Deputy Sheriff Jacob Steinbacher.

Mrs. Reis, the landlady of the Taylors, had received so many complaints about the conduct of her tenants and their visitors that she had decided to have them dispossessed. The ice-box had been partitioned off into two apartments, each about four feet by six feet, and used respectively as kitchen and bedroom by the Taylors.

Many applications were made before the greatest run ever made on Long Island Sound.

It wasn't a race. It was a runaway.

The fastest time made at any time was 22 nautical miles, or 25 statute miles. The run was greatly hampered by the frequent heating of the port engine, necessitating long runs under only one screw, and a strong head wind over the port bow. Under more favorable circumstances the steamer would probably have smashed the record into even smaller fragments. As it was she passed everything in sight as though she passed everything in sight as though they were made fast with anchors fore and aft. The record was 6 hours, made by the City of Lowell recently.
